

Agenda FY2019

- ④ Overview of Discovery Life results FY2019
- ④ Technical discussion points
- ④ Product and Distribution strategy

Key characteristics and attributes of Discovery Life's product, distribution and data strategy

Product

Data

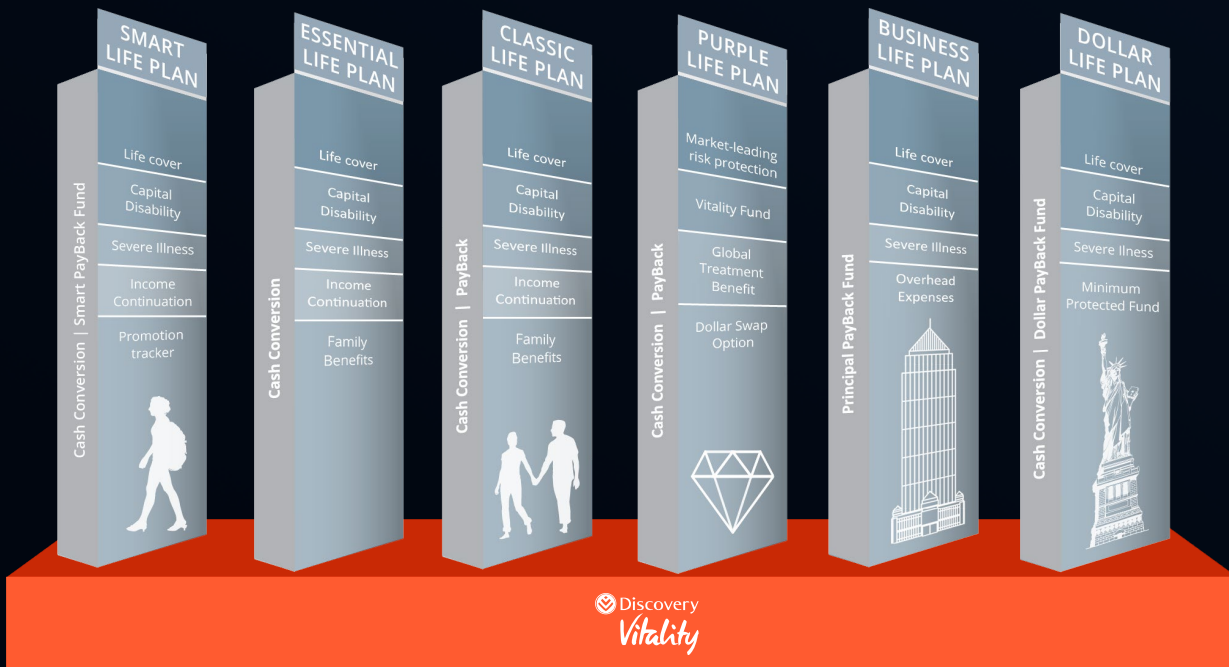

Distribution

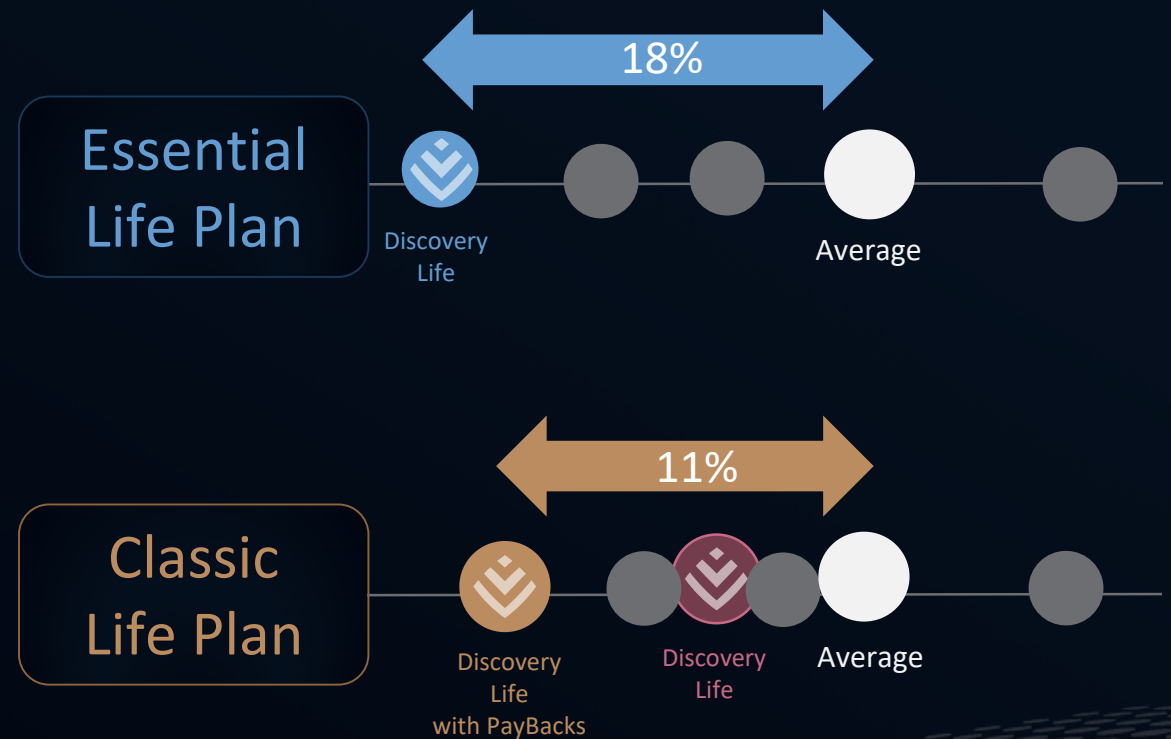

Market competitiveness and product differentiation

Providing a tailored product solution across all life stages

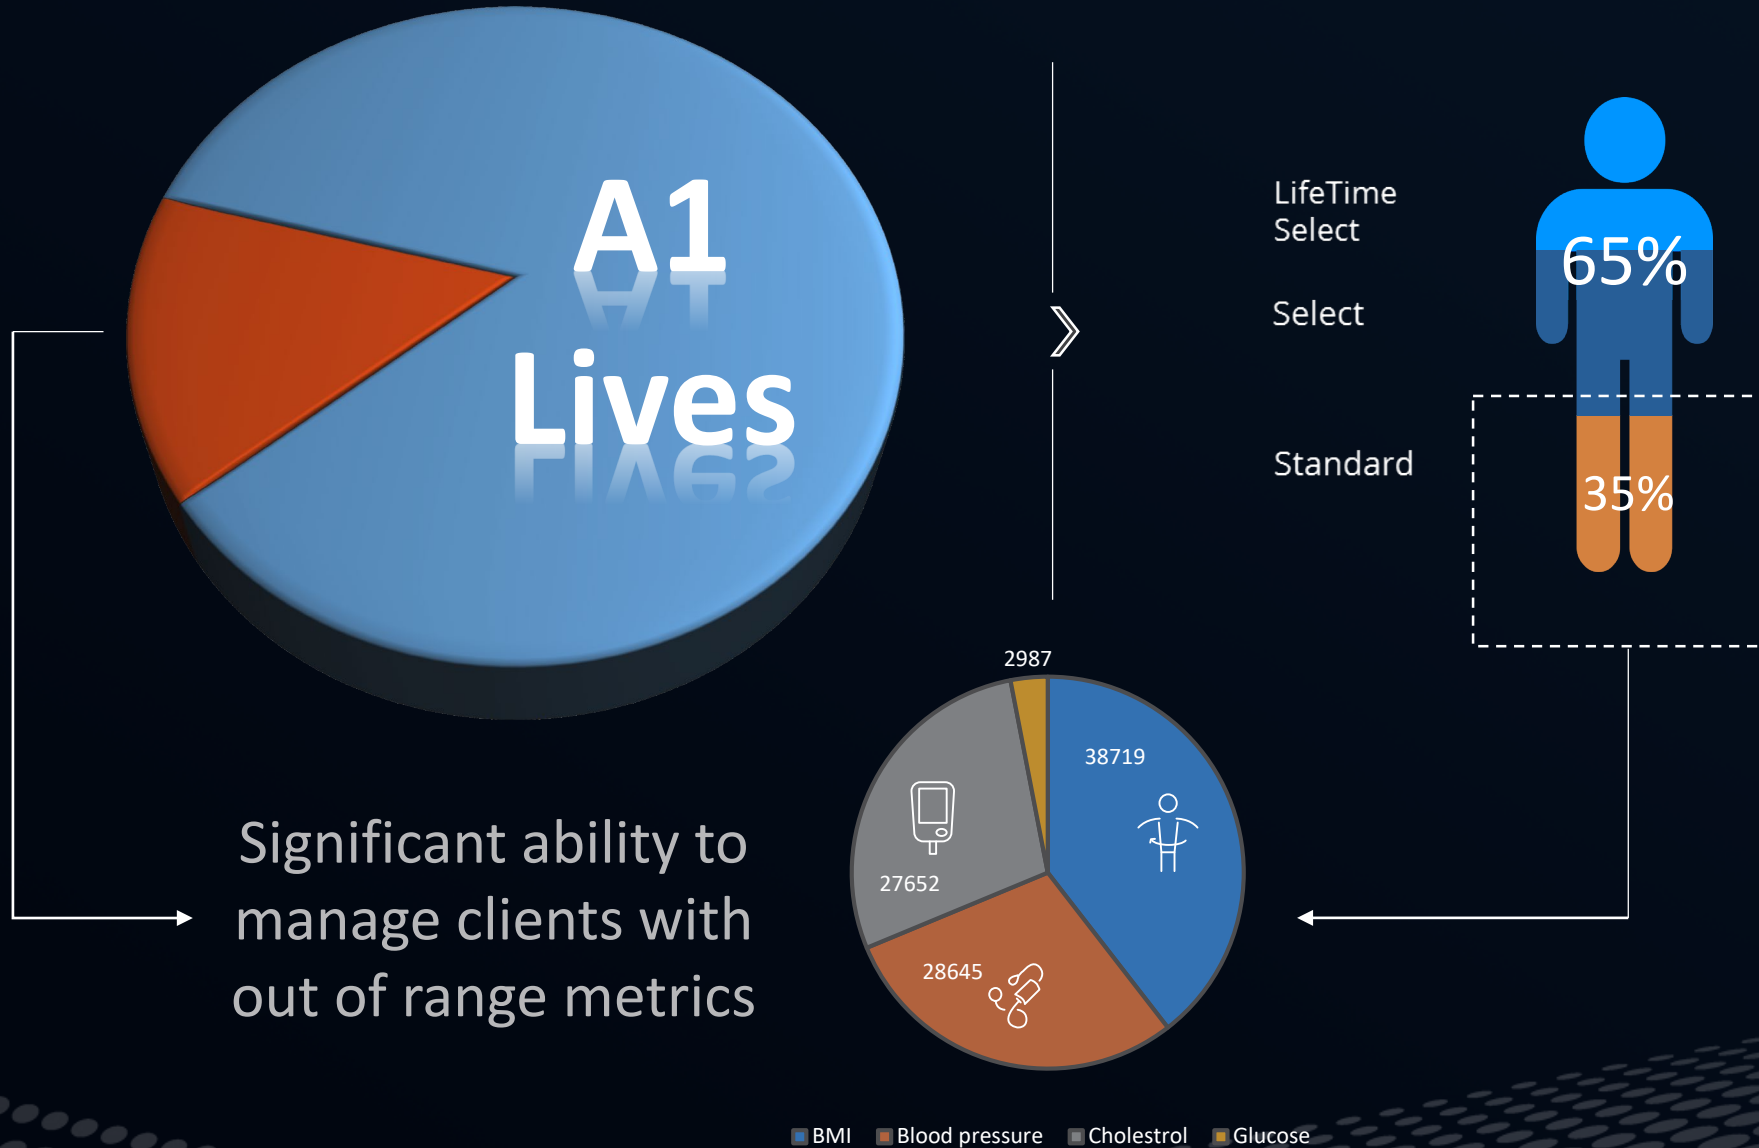

Better value proposition for superior risk benefits

* Last premium analysis performed as part of Research and Development

Upfront selection and risk management

Correlations between premium, ancillary take-up and lapses

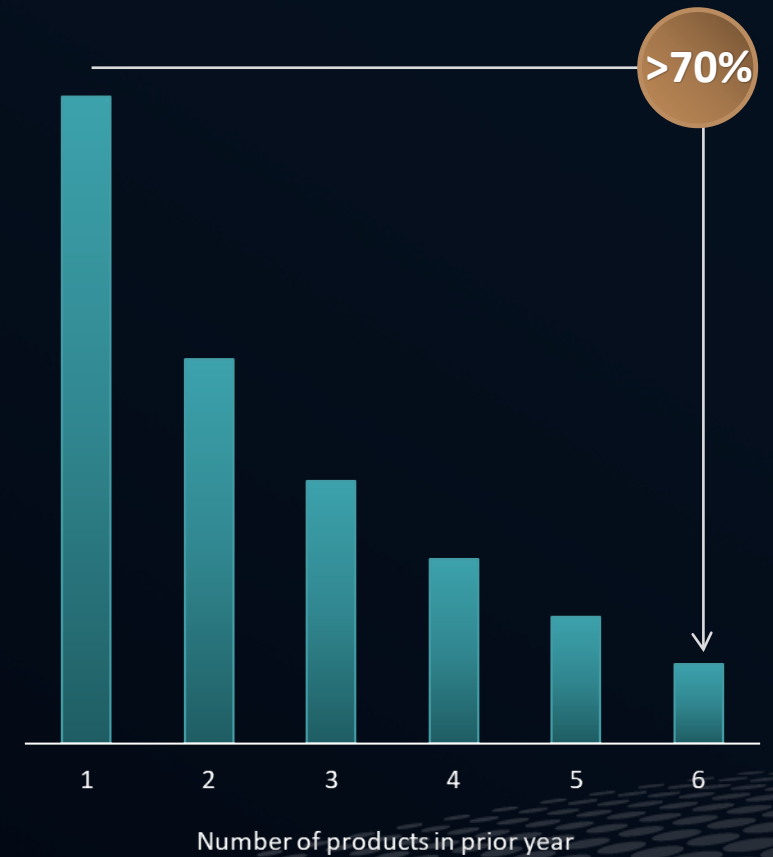

Average premium of Integrated and non-Integrated clients

Premium distribution based on ancillary take-up and Integration status

Lapse rate by product count

Innovation premium drives profitability

Global Education Protector

World's most innovative life insurance product in 2018

>25%

Higher profitability

LifeTime Severe Illness Benefit

Best oncology product in SA

>25%

Higher profitability

Dollar Life Plan

Only authentic offshore cover in SA market

>25%

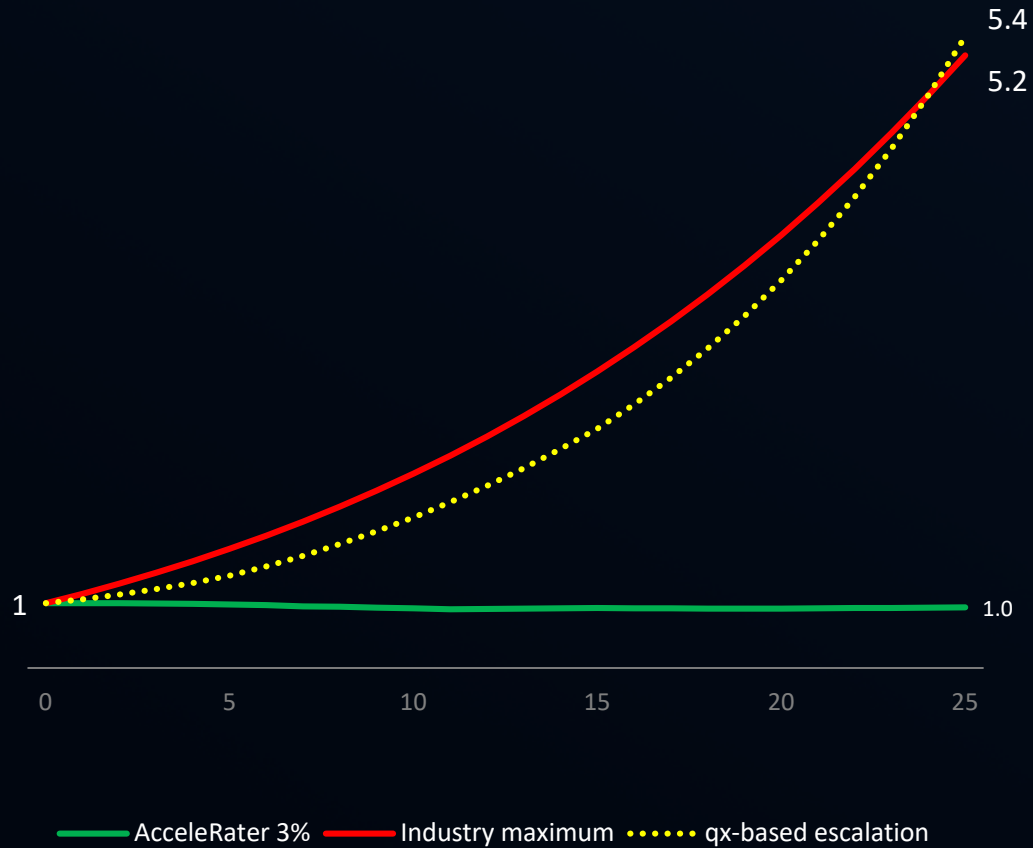

Higher profitability

*Higher profitability than average new business margin

Combination of shared value model and unique financial benefits drives increased persistency in healthiest segments

Premium as a multiple of level real premium
(salary inflation adjusted)

Combination of shared value model and unique financial benefits drives increased persistency in healthiest segments

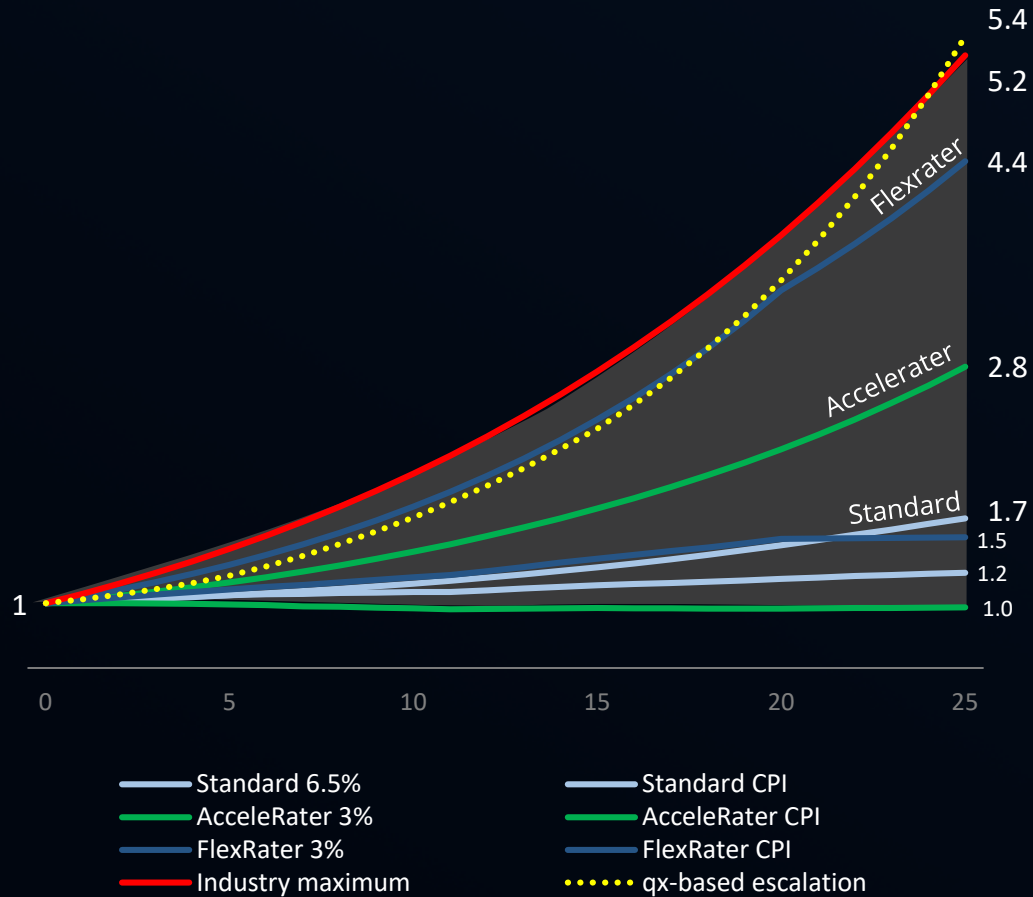

Premium as a multiple of level real premium
(salary inflation adjusted)

Combination of shared value model and unique financial benefits drives increased persistency in healthiest segments

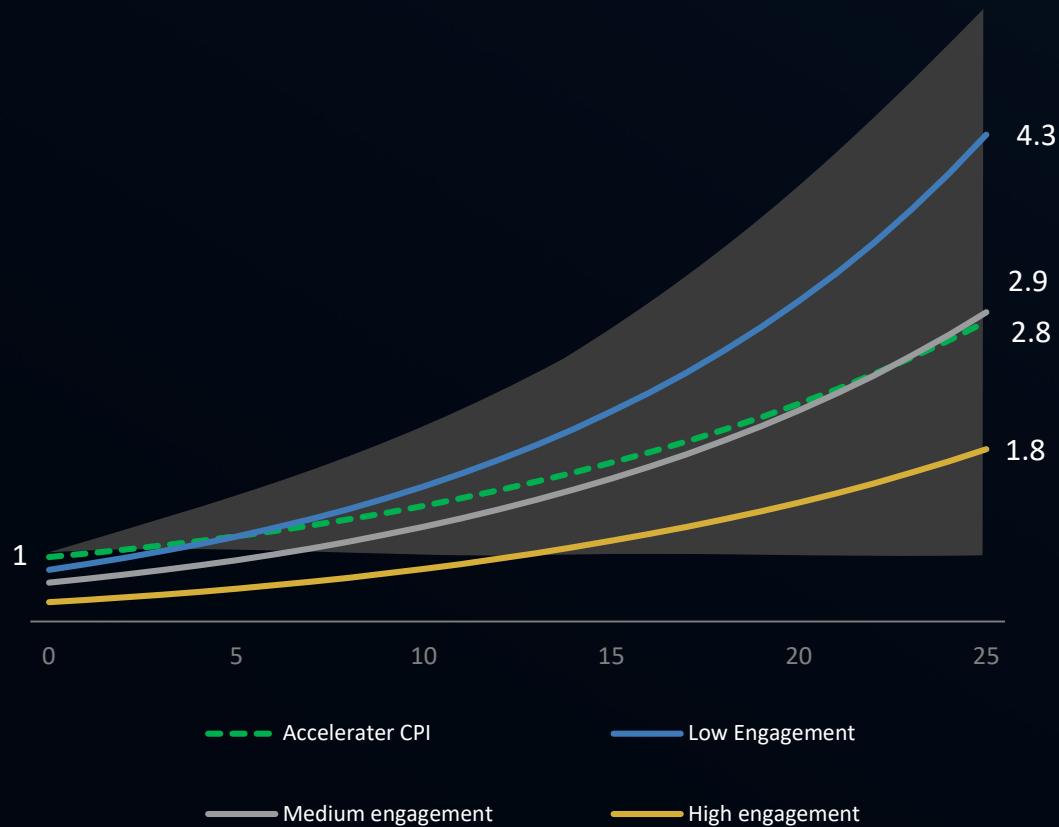

Premium as a multiple of level real premium
(salary inflation adjusted)

Combination of shared value model and unique financial benefits drives increased persistency in healthiest segments

Premium as a multiple of level real premium including the effects of integration and with PayBacks (salary inflation adjusted)

Ongoing sustainability driven by rewards and product enhancements

PayBacks

Cash conversions

Flatter premium options in retirement

* Assumptions: 3rd Health Claims band, Classic Comprehensive Health Plan, Salary inflation = CPI +2%, CPI = 5%, 40 year old

Key characteristics and attributes of Discovery Life's product, distribution and data strategy

Product

Upfront competitiveness and differentiation

Positive selection and risk management

Profitable business mix

Sustainability and persistency

Data

Distribution

Key characteristics and attributes of Discovery Life's product, distribution and data strategy

Product

Data

Distribution

Upfront competitiveness and differentiation

Positive selection and risk management

Profitable business mix

Sustainability and persistency

Steady new business growth

Life new business API (Rm)

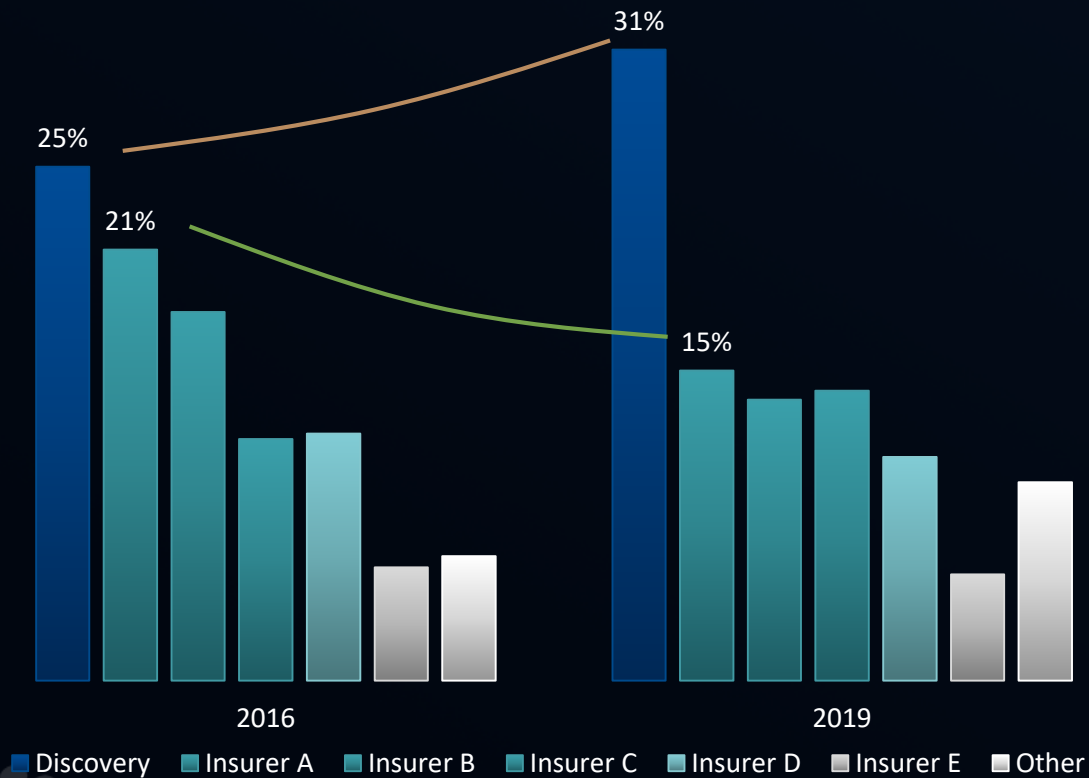

Shift in channel mix over time (%)

Growing and leading market share

Largest new business risk writer

Tied channel

IFA channel

Growing and productive agency force writing high-value business

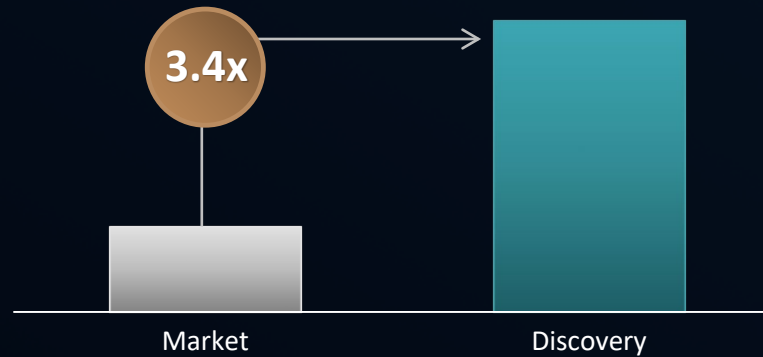

Growing agency force

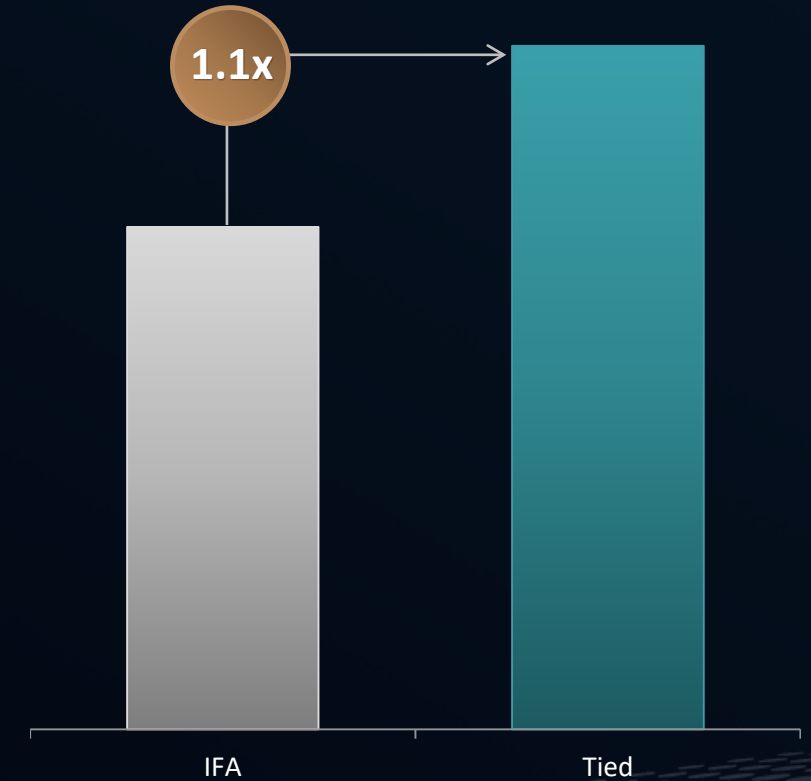

Highly productive vs. market

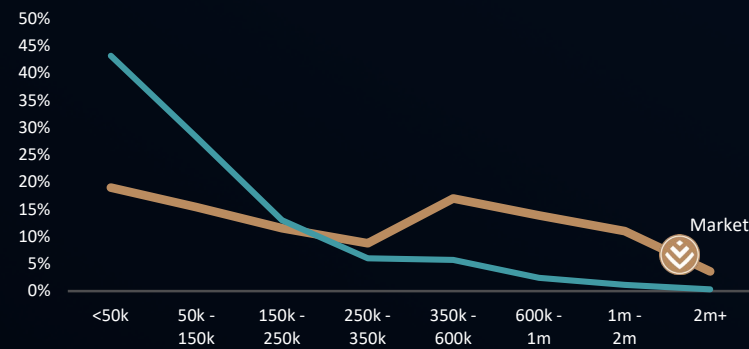

Agent productivity (average production)

VNB margin: IFA vs. tied

Distribution of agents by productivity

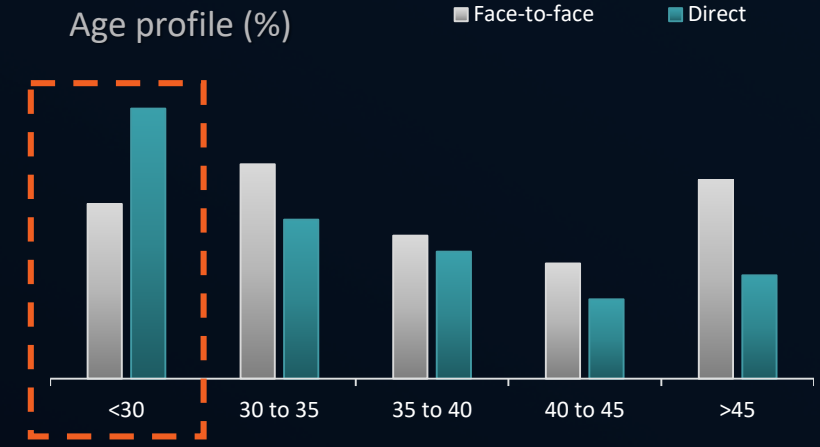

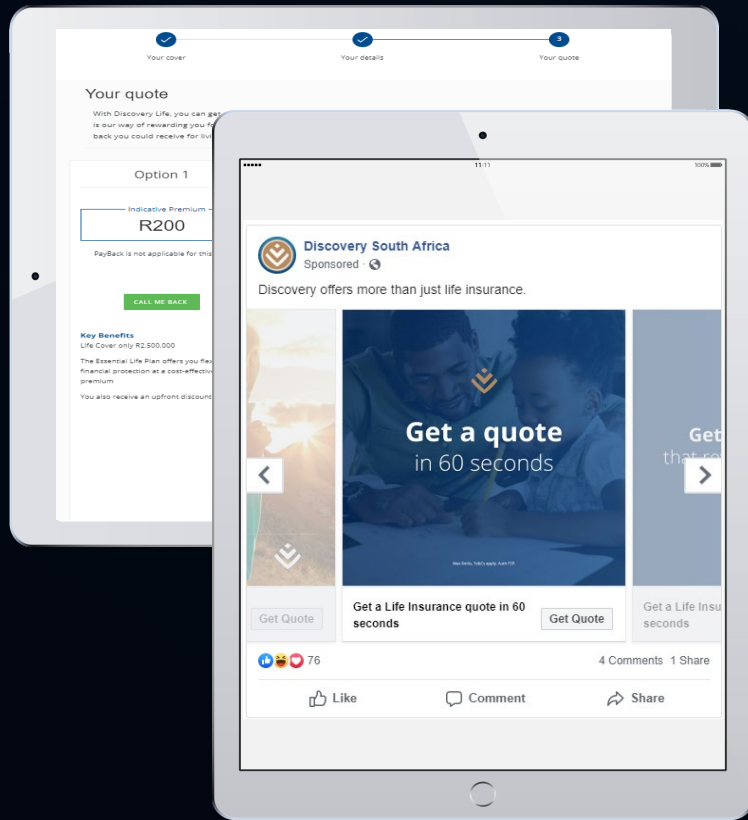

Strong growth in direct channel | complementary to adviser channel

Life new business API:
Direct as a % of total

Complementary distribution channel

Adjacent integration opportunities for growth

Ongoing enhancements to the current product suite

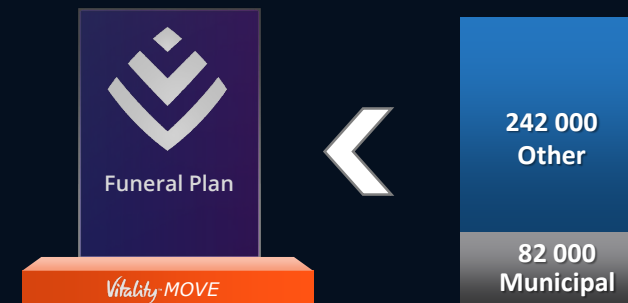

Integrated products for simple, seamless client journey

Bank Integration leverages socio-economic data and distribution footprint

Vitality Health Status	Vitality Money status
	Blue	Bronze	Silver	Gold	Diamond
Blue	-2%	-1.5%	0%	0.25%	1%
Bronze	-1.5%	-1%	0%	0.5%	1.25%
Silver	0%	0%	0%	0.75%	1.5%
Gold	0.25%	0.5%	0.75%	1%	1.75%
Diamond	1%	1.25%	1.5%	1.75%	2%

Mass market product and distribution overlap

Key characteristics and attributes of Discovery Life's product, distribution and data strategy

Product

Upfront competitiveness and differentiation

Positive selection and risk management

Profitable business mix

Sustainability and persistency

Data

Distribution

#1 market share in agency and broker segments

Complementary direct sales

Adjacent integration opportunities for growth

Key characteristics and attributes of Discovery Life's product, distribution and data strategy

Product

Upfront competitiveness and differentiation

Positive selection and risk management

Profitable business mix

Sustainability and persistency

Data

Distribution

#1 market share in agency and broker segments

Complementary direct sales

Adjacent integration opportunities for growth

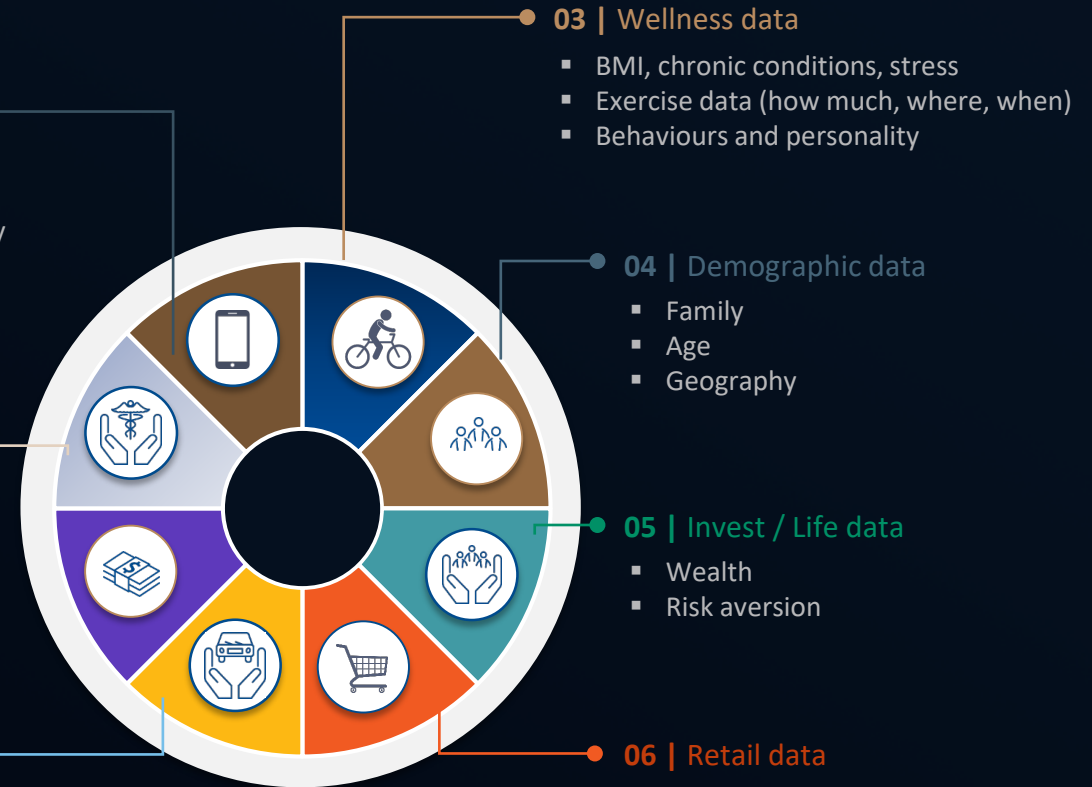

Unlocking integration opportunities and significant client insights

- 02 | Ops and Service data
- Calls and emails
 - Service metrics and keywords
 - Web and app browsing history
 - Google analytics
 - Agent notes

- 01 | Health Data
- Health status
 - Where they live
 - How they use their savings accounts

- 07 | Insure data
- Assets
 - Where people drive
 - How
 - At what time

Targeted adviser and opportunity execution

Data-driven adviser segmentation

Data analytics facilitates a powerful tool for adviser segmentation enabling bespoke strategies for each adviser

Motivate optimal adviser behaviour with the Adviser Quality Index Score, going beyond sales targets

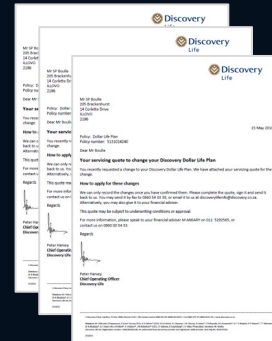

Enhancing adviser support

Period month	Health	Life	Invest	Retire
July 17	10,224	12,040	11,248	10,224
August 17	1,124,499	1,522,270	1,401,851	88,070
September 17	1,124,499	1,522,270	1,401,851	88,070
October 17	1,124,499	1,522,270	1,401,851	88,070
November 17	1,124,499	1,522,270	1,401,851	88,070
December 17	1,124,499	1,522,270	1,401,851	88,070
January 18	1,124,499	1,522,270	1,401,851	88,070
February 18	1,124,499	1,522,270	1,401,851	88,070
March 18	1,124,499	1,522,270	1,401,851	88,070
April 18	1,124,499	1,522,270	1,401,851	88,070
May 18	1,124,499	1,522,270	1,401,851	88,070
June 18	1,124,499	1,522,270	1,401,851	88,070

Intelligent mining of the base to select all qualifying policies

Sophisticated identification of propensity to take up each opportunity

Quotes are generated for each opportunity for seamless activation

Application of product and distribution data across all elements of the client journey

Vitality™

Pro-active client identification

Targeted advisor analytics and marketing support

Seamless new business and underwriting

Ongoing risk management

Dynamic servicing opportunities

Positive selection through financial benefits

Fraud detection and pro-active claims

Key characteristics and attributes of Discovery Life's product, distribution and data strategy

Product

Data

Distribution

Upfront competitiveness and differentiation

Positive selection and risk management

Profitable business mix

Sustainability and persistency

#1 market share in agency and broker segments

Complementary direct sales

Adjacent integration opportunities for growth

- Risk management
- Enhanced service

- Client engagement
- New business