

Allen Carr's Easyway To Stop Smoking

What is the Allen Carr's Easyway To Stop Smoking benefit?

Allen Carr's Easyway To Stop Smoking programme is one of the most successful stop smoking programmes in the world. It deals with the real problem – the mental addiction. Once this is effectively overcome, withdrawal becomes easy to manage and little willpower is required.

Most smokers require one five-hour session with smoke breaks throughout. Allen Carr's Easyway To Stop Smoking is endorsed by the Cancer Association of South Africa (CANSAs) and has branches countrywide. With a 33-year track record and 150 clinics in over 50 countries, they are the only smoking cessation company to offer a unique money-back guarantee. Discovery Vitality members can join Allen Carr's Easyway To Stop Smoking once in a lifetime at the Vitality rate.

Sign your non-smokers declaration when doing your annual Vitality Health Check

After twelve months of being a non-smoker, you can sign your non-smoker's declaration when doing your Vitality Health Check. The Vitality Health Check is made up of five measures:

- Blood pressure
- Blood glucose
- Cholesterol
- A weight assessment
- Signing a non-smokers declaration

You can earn up to 20 000 Vitality points, depending on how many of your health check results are in range.

Random blood tests

Vitality may ask you to do a blood test to check whether you have stopped smoking. The blood test is called a serum nicotine test. By signing up for this benefit, declaring that you do not smoke and earning the Vitality points, you give permission for these random blood tests to take place in order to confirm that you don't smoke.

If you start smoking

If you start smoking, you need to contact us so that your points can be reversed.

Ending the benefit

If your Vitality membership is cancelled, you can stay on Allen Carr's Easyway To Stop Smoking programme, but you will have to pay the standard rate for the rest of the course.
